DEDICATION

Many years ago, when girls as well as boys attended classes at Governor Dummer, a mathematics instructor found in his class one lonely girl amid a score of boys. When the girl proved slow in solving the assigned problem, the master held her up to merciless ridicule. Instead of enjoying their classmate's discomfiture, the boys promptly and firmly refused to continue with the recitation until the master had apologized to her. To the girl, now known to us as Mrs. Carrie G. K. Ambrose, the MILESTONE of 1936 was dedicated. We now wish to dedicate the MILESTONE of 1937 to another member of that class, to one of her defenders, Mr. Joseph N. Dummer, a collateral descendant of the founder of the Academy.

His hold on our affections is based not only on those qualities which he showed that day and which have always characterized his relations to the school. In addition, we revere him as a trustee of the Academy since 1906, as secretary of the board for twenty-five years, and as an antiquarian who has collected and preserved a rich fund of anecdotes concerning the history of Governor Dummer Academy.

The Academy Buildings and Environs

This year the Milestone has thought fitting to publish a full-page picture of the new building, yet unnamed and with two additional wings not built, as a frontispiece. This building is the most recent edifice to be constructed on the campus, and appreciation for the amount of effort expended in raising funds for it, and for the convenience with which we are now provided, has inspired this publication to investigate the dates of origin and other historical factors surrounding our older buildings. It was hoped that a continuous account of the growth of the grounds and structures could be presented for the benefit of the school. But investigation has shown unfortunately that at present the facts are too scarce to weave into a complete story. When the times beyond the memory of living graduates are penetrated, the information about changes in location of buildings and the changes in the appearance of the Academy is not clear enough. It is, however, with enthusiasm that we present the facts that have been gathered, in unembellished form, at the end of this article. We are indebted to Mr. Joseph N. Dummer of Rowley, a trustee of ours to whom this book is dedicated, for the larger part of these facts.

Several of our older graduates, among whom are Mrs. Ambrose, Mr. Dummer, and Mr. Kilvert, have on occasions given their recollections of what the school was like between the years 1872-1885, and even by glancing back to that comparatively short time ago we can see how the facilities of the Academy have progressed; and after knowing what the campus was then we can feel very thankful for our present group of buildings. During the years mentioned, there were only three main buildings used for the actual operation of the school. These were the Mansion House, the Commons, and the School House. A person standing to the East of these buildings and looking out towards Plum Island would then have seen little but the open marshes stretching to the sea. There was, however, at that time a small wooden building, "for human convenience" placed somewhere near where the Mansion House flower garden is now found. The thought of this small building reminds us that the Parker River provided one of the few means of satisfactory ablution in those times in the same way as it had during the very early days of the preceptorship of Master Moody. Mr. Moody used to excuse his classes at high tide in order that they might bathe. There was also a small lane to the East of the three buildings, indicating the path of the old turnpike, which was dealt a deathblow at the opening of the Eastern Railroad in 1840. The marshes would also have been visible further to the south than today. No buildings stood where Pierce Hall and the Lang Gymnasium now are located. Just beyond, in the vicinity of the present Mason cottage and Duncan House, a large chicken run could be seen.

On the opposite side of the campus Moody House did not then have Perkins as a companion. Nor was the little red schoolhouse in its present imposing position but was part of the carriage house attached to the old farm building which preceded Moody on the same site. A long barn, which was later moved alongside Moody and taken down as recently as 1929, was then located in about the position of the parking space near the present Newbury war memorial.

The Mansion House lawn presented a very different view from what it does now. At about the center of the area of grass was the third Schoolhouse with its front doors pointing westward. A fairly high bell tower rose at the west end. It is still a mystery how the pupils were able to reach the bell, turn it upside down and pour water into it in order that the water might freeze and cripple it during the cold weather. The lawn was surrounded by a wicket fence and the athletic field extended from the corner of the milestone to a point near the present junior hockey pond, which was then only marshy ground. This small field, compared with the modern facilities, provided an opportunity for baseball contests in which Mr. Dummer, and Mr. Kilvert, and even Mrs. Ambrose took part. The stirring games of those days had a much more narrow compass in which to transpire—a good hit to left field would land against the Schoolhouse, and a foul might even reach the Mansion House. A tennis court of somewhat shrunken proportions was placed between the Mansion House and the Commons building, and directly at the back of the old Schoolhouse. This ancient court was a popular spot. It is easy to imagine that the students then had to wait even longer than they do now to get an opportunity for playing. Those who were waiting for a game had the chance, however, to amuse themselves on the swing, which hung from the old Sycamore, still fighting for life near the center of the lawn, and a fellow tree, now no longer with us.

There was, of course, no building where Parsons now stands. Parsons was, in fact, contructed from the old Schoolhouse in the middle of the lawn. Consequently there was no road leading from the milestone around to the south side of Commons. The other roads which branch from the intersection at the Newbury memorial were, however, all in existence. The County or "back" road on which today the cross country races take place was constructed in 1654 at the same time as Thurlow's Bridge; the road from the Academy leading past Mrs. Ambrose's was built in 1722, and the one which leads down by the junior hockey pond and eventually to the turnpike was made in 1831. The path by Degen House, which is now overgrown in the woods, was then also out of use. It had been constructed in 1710 and discontinued in 1856.

Not only was the appearance of the campus different in the years between 1872 and 1885, but two of the buildings, the Mansion House and the Commons, were used for different purposes from what they are now. The former was solely a dormitory. It had been one most of the time since Master Moody and his brother resided there. The latter, before 1885, was known as the Preceptor's House, and was not used for any other purpose than "for the benefit of the teacher." The transverse section was added to this building in 1884, and where the rear part is now there was a carriage house with its doors facing south. There was no porch on the Commons until after 1900.

As may be expected the atmosphere of the Academy was somewhat different fifty or sixty years ago. It is true that it was then, as it is now, situated in a most beautiful part of the country. But then it was even more in the country. In a catalogue of a somewhat early date the following description is found, and may be used to apply with veracity to the period with which we are dealing: "The spot is salubrious, retired, and unusually free from objects of distraction and temptation." The people did not have the feeling, as we do, that they were quite near Boston.

In closing it may be noted that the scholars were more apt to spend their afternoons in the countryside, or in sailing on the Parker River, or perhaps in having hare and hound races over the frozen marshes, than they were to participate in organized athletics. They did not find Sundays so convenient, however, as we do, for walks into the country and for other forms of amusement. There was still some of the atmosphere which produced the following dictum in the catalogue of 1840: "Walking in the street or field for amusement on the Sabbath, and everything else, in conversation or conduct, inconsistent with the solemnity of the day, is strictly forbidden."

AMBROSE HOUSE is thought to be constructed of parts of two distinct houses of different dates. One part is supposed to be a section of a house built by John Wicom between 1682 and 1700. The more recent part is supposed to have been built by Lemuel Noyes, perhaps at about the time of the Revolution. The land on which Ambrose House stands was at first owned by Richard Dummer, cousin of William Dummer.

THE FARMHOUSE BARN was probably constructed in 1806. It was first placed near the present parking space by the Newbury war memorial and moved about 1885 to a position just northeast of Moody House. It was taken down in 1929. The remains of its foundation may still be seen.

THE COMMONS BUILDING was built in 1837 during the preceptorship of Samuel Adams "for the benefit of the teacher." The transverse wing was added in 1884, and the section at the east end in 1906. A carriage house, constructed in 1838, stood where the section at the east end does now. The porch was added to the front of this building between 1908 and 1910, not as a porch, however, to begin with, but as a porte-cochère.

DEGEN HOUSE is found on land which passed from Joseph Noyes in 1776 to Margaret Pierpont, widow of Jonathan Pierpont, with the provision that "she build a house." This Mrs. Pierpont's name has been connected with the Madam Pierrepont, a sister of William Dummer, who operated a school in the Mansion House before the opening of the Academy in 1763.

DUNCAN HOUSE is the school's most recent dormitory. It was constructed in 1934, and was named in memory of the Honorable James H. Duncan, grandfather of Mr. James Duncan Phillips, president of the board of trustees.

THE SCHOOL GARAGE was built in 1927.

THE GOLF COURSE was made in 1915.

LANG GYMNASIUM was built in 1922. The "gymn" was made possible through a gift of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lang of Melrose. Mr. Lang was a trustee of the Academy from 1922 to 1937.

THE MANSION HOUSE was probably built in 1713 in anticipation of William Dummer's marriage on April 20, 1714, to Katherine Dudley. The brick wing at the north end was probably added within ten years of the building of the house. Repairs were made to this building in 1786, 1791, 1837, and 1898-1900. Chairs and a desk of William Dummer are still used in the living room.

MOODY HOUSE (OR MASTER MOODY HOUSE) was named after the first master of the school, the celebrated Samuel Moody. The present building was erected in 1915, after a fire had destroyed the old farm house that stood on the same site. This farm house is supposed to have been built by Isaac Smith, the second headmaster of the School, in 1800. The present dormitory resembles the old farm house very closely in exterior appearance.

THE NEW BUILDING built in 1936. It is still unnamed, and there are still two parts to be added to the building.

NOYES HOUSE was built by Daniel Noyes, who owned and lived in Ambrose House, in 1837. The land on which this house is found has been in the hands of the Noyes family or their ancestors since the first settler in 1635.

THE NOYES LIBRARY was built in 1929. It was the gift of Captain Charles W. Brown of Pittsburgh in memory of Edward P. Noyes, an Academy trustee from 1895 to 1913. Captain Brown was the son of a sea captain, and later became master of a vessel himself. He was president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and while at the Academy boarded at Noyes House.

PERKINS HOUSE was opened in 1925. It had been transformed from the old gymnasium, built in 1887, which was placed half-way between the site of the present Lang Gymnasium and the Mansion House. Perkins was named after John Wright Perkins who was headmaster from 1882 to 1894.

PIERCE HALL built between 1902 and 1906, was a gift of John Pierce, a graduate, and trustee, 1900-1934. The old house burned in 1917, and the present hall was erected on the same site and opened in 1918.

THE PORTABLE SCHOOL HOUSE was purchased in 1922.

THE FIRST SCHOOL HOUSE was built in 1762, and it is still used in the capacity of a school store. For many years it was used as part of a carriage house between the farm house and barn. In the early part of this century it was used by the ladies of Adelynrood.

THE SECOND SCHOOL HOUSE was built in 1795. It was voted to be sold in 1822, and was sold in 1829. This second School House now is known as the Fleak House and does not belong to the school. It was, however, used as a dormitory from 1930 to 1934.

THE THIRD SCHOOL HOUSE was built in 1820 in the centre of the Mansion House lawn. In 1871, "modern desks" were installed. This is the School House which Mrs. Ambrose, Mr. Adams, Mr. Dummer and Mr. Kilvert knew.

THE FOURTH SCHOOL HOUSE (PARSONS SCHOOL HOUSE) was the third School House enlarged. It was moved to its present position from the centre of the lawn in front of the Mansion House in 1905. It was dedicated by the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge. Mrs. Susan E. P. Forbes gave funds for this building, and in compliment to her it was named after her ancestor, the Rev. Moses Parsons, who was the second Byfield minister. The eminent chief justice and alumnus of the Academy, Theophilus Parsons, was a member of this same Parsons family.

GERMAN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Hans Luft, the second German exchange student to come to Governor Dummer in recent years, spent the fall term with us at South Byfield. He was a member of the government school at Naumburg an der Saale. We all felt that this Hans, like our former Hans, Hans Bosenius of last year, progressed in many ways while he was here at the Academy. Before he left, he spoke English well, and had mastered the intricacies of football with enough skill to make tackle position on the varsity football team. Most members of the football squad were amazed at the speed with which Hans ran his preliminary laps in the early practices — he was frequently found to be in the lead of the whole squad. His place-kicking was also good, as was that of his predecessor.

Since Hans proved to be a runner of remarkable endurance he was picked as one of the hares for the annual hare and hound hunt. His duties of running and distributing torn paper were performed with skill on this occasion. In other words he earned the steak dinner which was waiting for him at the end of the day.

On December second and fourth Hans spoke to the school. He related that he found, that although American and German schools were apt to differ in many details, the spirit to be found here among the boys was of the same mettle as that of his own school.

A regulation football on which were inscribed the names of the football squad and of the boys of Moody House was presented to Hans as a leaving present shortly before Christmas.

The Football Season

Mr. Eames
Coach

The 1936 football season was very successful, the team winning all but the Moses Brown game, which was lost 7-6. Incidentally this was the only touchdown scored by an opponent all year. At the beginning of the season the team lacked material, but hard work and excellent spirit on the part of the players and the three coaches, Mr. Edward Eames, Mr. Sager, and Mr. Allen, developed a fine team.

In the first contest, the team beat the Andover Reserves 19-0, and it was Joe Hoague who did all the scoring. He tallied late in the second period on an intercepted pass, and scored twice in the third period on long runs, which were featured by good blocking and beautiful broken-field running.

The following week the team journeyed to Marion where they again proved to be the superior outfit when they defeated Tabor Academy 18-0, in a driving rain. Dick Curtis did all the scoring on short line bucks, which were set up chiefly by eight completed forward passes.

Playing their third consecutive game on a rain-drenched field, the Governors easily overcame Thayer Academy at South Braintree. Joe Hoague scored twice, Charlie Callanan once, and an additional two points came from a Thayer safety.

The Governor team then proceeded to win its fourth straight victory by defeating the obviously weaker Portsmouth Priory School by 38-0. Our substitutes played most of this game, in which Hoague, Curtis, Steele, and Cleaveland each added a touchdown to their credit.

Continuing their winning streak, the Governors defeated the extremely strong Harvard Freshmen 12-0. Although the Harvard team, which was composed mostly of players from their first eleven, outweighed our team, the Governors took an early lead on the visitors on two beautiful runs by Joe Hoague. Then, showing a great deal of fight, the South Byfield team held off Harvard's desperate last-half drive.

Going into the final game of the year, against the undefeated Moses Brown School, the Governors, with five straight wins behind them and their goal-line yet to be crossed, had high hopes of having another undefeated season. The Red and White took the lead early in the first period on a 55-yard off-tackle run by Charlie Callanan, but failed to kick that all-important point. The much heavier Moses Brown eleven rallied almost immediately to score on a short pass, and proceeded to kick what later proved to be the winning point of the game. Although neither team scored again, Moses Brown held a decided advantage for the remainder of the game, except for the Governors' last minute march towards their opponents' goal.

There were many fine players who contributed their effort and ability to make the season successful. Captain Ed Donnelly, who made an excellent leader, and

N B
1708

Rollin Steele with the help of Stan James, very capably held down the end positions. Because of their equal ability the six tackles, Ross, Neily, Griffith, Olander, Cox, and Hans Luft, a German exchange student, received their letters. John Barrows, Tom Gaffney, and Charlie Fellows played well at the guard positions. Jack Connelly played wonderfully at center. Joe Hoague again showed himself to be a star fullback. Charlie Callanan very capably called the plays, and Dick Curtis and Russ Simons proved to be excellent blockers. At the halfback posts Jack Carver and Mike Lawler were very able substitutes.

James Deupree
Richard Schanzle
Managers

Credit for the successful season, as said before, can go to no one person. An excellent spirit and hard work on the part of the players and coaches made up for any lack of material that there might have been. At the fall banquet John Barrows was elected to lead next year's eleven, and it is expected that he will carry on the same fine spirit in the Governors' football team.

The Hockey Season

Mr. M. Eames
Coach

The hockey team of 1937 had one of the best seasons that the school has ever known, under the leadership of Captain Art Ross. The outfit showed not only power and strength, but also the most important factor in hockey: teamwork.

Roger Conant was the fastest skater and the best stick-handler on the team, while Len Poor contributed the brainwork, and Box Cox shone in the pinches.

Dick Curtis was the most conscientious player, Dick Pierce the best all-around man, and John Ross the strongest substitute on the team.

The second line, composed of Steele, Lees, and Ellis, with Bean as an alternate, proved to be a strong combination offensively.

Captain Ross was the star of the team in that he kept the puck out of his cage, and his guidance and fine spirit through the whole season kept the sextet working to the last whistle.

The Red and White opened its season with Amesbury High School. This game showed definitely who were the best men on the team. Poor scored three of the six goals, thus giving the team an easy victory.

Dover High School came to play a game with the Governors on February 6, on very soft ice, a factor which made the game a difficult one for both sides. The Governors won handily, however. In this game Dick Pierce starred at defense and put in one of the finest performances of his career.

The only defeat of the season for the Governors was at the hands of Belmont Hill School in the Boston Garden. They were the faster sextet and showed that they had plenty of practice on artificial ice.

The next two games were also played in the Boston Garden, against Thayer Academy and Deerfield. In the Thayer game the combination of Poor and Conant scored effectively, and in the Deerfield game Ross turned in his best performance of the season.

The Governors closed their season by again having no natural ice to play on.

The success of the season depended mostly on the fine coaching of Mr. Morey Eames, and his assistants, Mr. Allen and Mr. Hill.

The Basketball Season

Mr. Navins
Coach

The Governor Dummer Academy basketball team experienced a successful season this year by defeating seven of its twelve opponents. Captain Edward Donnelly, a fine spirited player, was high scorer for the season, making 116 points.

The opening game, played with Austin Cate Academy was a decided victory for the Governors. In this game neither team was flawless, although each in their turn showed flashes of brilliancy. Charles Callanan and Captain Donnelly excelled, scoring 13 and 12 points respectively. The Governors next played the alumni, and with much effort won the game by three points. Mr. Navins, coach of the home team, played forward position in the opposing line and made considerable trouble for the varsity team. Donnelly again starred in the scoring column by making 19 points. The first defeat of the season was in an encounter with Deerfield Academy in a contest in which both sides played well. The Red and White once more became the victors when they met Lawrence Academy. Mike Lawler turned in a nice performance, scoring nine points.

In a game played with the Harvard Freshmen, Governor Dummer was defeated for the second time. The Governors were handicapped when Russ Simons and Joe Hoague were lost via the personal foul rule. The two following games were successful for the Governors. They then entered upon a period of hard luck, being beaten by Exeter Academy and Phillips Andover. In these two games the Governors showed a great deal of fight, especially in the latter contest, in which they made 12 points to the opponents' seven in the latter half of the game.

Governor Dummer won from Babson Institute by a safe margin, and topped Tabor Academy by four points. The final game of the season, with Salem Teacher's College, produced a very exciting spectacle. The play was nip and tuck all the way through, but the visitors managed to lead in the closing minutes of play.

Mr. Navins is to be complimented on his fine development of the team, and for his hard work in making the basketball season a success.

The Cross Country Season

Mr. Sager

The cross country team has a satisfactory record for this season when it is considered that this is only the second year of the sport at Governor Dummer. Mr. Lacey, coach of the squad, believes that the boys progressed noticeably during the course of the season's work.

The squad of eleven boys included: Harold Audet, Howard Barnet, Ralph Bean, Jack Bell, Edward Brush, David Faulkner, Putnam Flint, Russell Potter, Thomas Johnson, John Field, and Charlie Shackelford. Of these men, Bell, Brush, Bean, and Flint received their varsity letters.

The first meet was on October 26, with Reading High School. The Reading team beat the Governors badly last year, but this year the respective scores were much closer. Jack Bell came in a short distance behind Carpenter of Reading, who was first of all the runners. Brush was sixth over the 2.5 mile course.

Andover Seconds met the Governors on November 2. Again the Red and White runners came closer to their rivals than they did last year. The score, in Andover's favor, was 43 to 62. Jack Bell came in first in 13 minutes, 29 seconds, beating by nearly a minute the previous record for the course. Brush was second, also beating the old record.

The last meet, with Wakefield High School Seconds, was won by the Governors. Jack Bell again was first, with Ed Brush trailing him, and Ralph Bean fourth.

The annual hare and hound race, held on Saturday November 21, gave the entire school a chance to reap the benefits from cross country work. Degen House and the boys of the first floor of Peirce Hall won the race. Those who received the steak dinner at night were: Brush, Haley, Lawler, Ross, Stockton, Barrows, Bell, Deupree, Fuller, Huggins, Pettibone, and Salwen. Jack Bell and Hans Luft, the German exchange student, were the hares, who went out over the countryside leaving a paper trail behind them for the hounds to follow. Len Poor and Ed Brush were the first to catch these hares.

The Soccer Season

Mr. Navins
Coach

For some years there has been talk of having a soccer team at Governor Dummer Academy. Not until this year, however, has the hope become a reality. It has always been objected that there is no field for soccer, but it has now been found that there is room for a small playing field alongside the regular football field. A coach has been found too. Mr. Navins, who had previously had experience at playing the game, initiated the sport with eighteen candidates, few of whom were at first acquainted with the rules of the game. Mr. Iglehart assisted Mr. Navins, and Mr. Lacey refereed the matches.

After three weeks of practice the first contest was played with Reading High School. The visitors had had a longer period of preparation and were more experienced. The outfit they put on the field was superior to the Governor soccer eleven in most respects. The second game, which was with Perley High School, showed how much a team can improve once it has tasted competition. This time The Governors were only beaten by one goal. Scores were made by Somerby and Hannah. The return game with Perley, on November 2, was an overwhelming victory for the Governors. This time Vaughan, Simson, and Hewitt scored for the team. Hannah put in a fine afternoon at goal.

A strong wind and a cold day made the Brooks game a hard one. Charlie Somerby and Minott Hubbell played outstandingly in this contest.

The last game of the season, which was played with Essex High School, had to be called off at half-time because the weather was so cold. The score at the ending of the game was 1-0 in favor of Essex. John Dillingham and Don Kirkpatrick played good defensive games during this short contest.

It now seems obvious that soccer is a valuable fall sport to have at Governor Dummer. Nearly every boy on the squad of this past season was new to the game, and yet practically every one of them learned to play in the regular manner, and to enjoy their playing. Next year the following members of the squad will return to form the nucleus of a more experienced team: Byfield, Dillingham, Frost, Gannet, Hannah, Hewitt, Schumann, Simson, and Stockton.

The Wrestling Season

Edward Hastings
Captain

Wrestling, reinaugurated last year at Governor Dummer, again continued this year as one of the more popular winter sports. The squad this year consisted chiefly of members who had had little or no previous experience. There were several of last year's team, however, who formed a nucleus for this season's team. These returning members were: Fellows, Field, Hastings, and Schanzle.

Edward Hastings, one of the best wrestlers of the team of 1936 was elected captain, and performed excellently throughout the season. Ted Bergmann was outstanding during the year, and perhaps the most sensational member of the team was John Barrows, whose body lift and slam was a constant source of amusement as well as being fine wrestling technique. John Bixby, John Field, Charles Fellows, Robert Olander, and Richard Schanzle also performed very creditably as regulars on the team.

Before a crowd of 800 the Governor wrestlers met defeat at the hands of the Exeter team. Captain Ed Hastings did a fine job pinning his man in one minute and 50 seconds for the Governors' only win. Bob Olander showed up creditably in his first match, which was against Tom Lacey, undefeated Exeter Captain.

On February 6, the Governors had their first home meet, and lost to Harvard Freshmen. Bergmann and Field won for the Academy, and Grey Emmons, 300 pounder, gave an excellent showing against strong opposition.

Andover defeated Governor Dummer on February 13. Captain Hastings and John Barrows were the only ones to win their matches in this contest.

Moses Brown School beat the Red and White in a hard fought meet. Ted Bergman lost a thrilling overtime match to Hocking. Schanzle and Bob Olander both won their matches by falls, the former in six minutes 45 seconds, and the latter in one minute 31 seconds. John Field's match with "Ace" Bohara would have looked appropriate in the Boston Garden. This was probably the most exciting match ever witnessed at the school.

The Winter Track Season

Mr. Lacey
Coach

The winter track team, increased in numbers by a good deal of new material, experienced a successful season. The unusually warm weather throughout the winter made possible regular practice without interruption, so that by February 6, the Governors were in condition for the Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival. In this meet the feature event was the medley relay. Captain Chandler Fuller, Jack Foster, John Donaldson, and Edward Brush ably outclassed their rival, Browne and Nichols School, in this race. The one-lap relay race was also an easy win for the Governors, but they were beaten by a strong Browne and Nichols team in the two-lap encounter. By winning two events out of three the Red and White runners placed fourth in the Private School class.

The annual Harvard Private School Meet was held for the first time this year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In spite of the cold, windy day, frequented by flurries of snow, there was some spectacular running. The tie score for first place between Moses Brown School and Roxbury Latin School indicates the closeness of the competition. Fuller received the only award for the Governors, by taking fifth place in the 300-yard dash.

In their last competition of the season the Governors overwhelmed a plucky Browne and Nichols team in a dual meet at Cambridge. Places for the Red and White runners in all events accounted for the imposing victory of 44 to 19. Foster and Murphy took first and third in the 40-yard dash, and Fuller placed second in the 45-yard low hurdles. Joe Hoague, an improved shot-putter over last year, won the weight event with a heave of over 45 feet. Philip Shackelford was second with a put of more than 41 feet. There was a triple tie in the high jump, between Hoague, James, and Huggins, and the scoring was thus boosted considerably. The height of the last jump was five feet three inches. Edward Brush and Jack Bell did some good running to take first and second respectively in the 1000-yard run.

The Ski Season

Mr. Iglehart
Coach

In response to Mr. Eames' plan for a week-end of winter sports in New Hampshire to compensate for the lack of snow during the winter term, a party of 140 enthusiastic masters and boys left by train for Waterville Valley, Meriden, N. H. on the afternoon of Friday, March 12.

After a five-hour ride the members of the party arrived at Campton, where trucks waited to carry them to the Waterville Valley Inn.

At the Inn the party was welcomed by the host, Mr. Austin, and the rooms were speedily assigned by Mr. Murphy and Mr. Navins.

The following morning held much excitement for all — ski instruction by Mr. Francois Bertrand of Otto Schneider's ski school; a three-hour climb of Mount Tecumseh for snowshoers, under the able direction of Mr. Jacob; and lessons in what to do when toboganning, under the direction of Mr. Kirk.

The members of the ski squad were rightfully outstanding in skiing, although they had only had the practice of the Kimball Union Meet. Ben Joy, a good all-around skier, and Shel Harris, the school's best jumper, tied for first place in the downhill race at Waterville Valley. The time for each was 27.5 seconds. Not to be outdone, the faculty produced Mr. Jones to make the unofficial time of 25 seconds.

In the evening of Saturday, March 13, through the courtesy of Mr. Arthur Ross, Sr., and with the help of John Ross who explained the pictures, there was a movie of the Boston Bruins, in which various phases of hockey were demonstrated.

The pictures were followed by a speaker, Mr. Edward Hunter, who had accompanied his son, Ted Hunter, a member of the United States Olympic Skiing Team, to Germany last year.

Mr. Hunter put emphasis on the good feeling which existed between the members of the American and European teams.

The Baseball Season

Mr. Eames
Coach

In their opening game, the Governors met the Groton School Team. The weak pitching and the ineffective hitting of the opponents helped the Governors to a comparatively easy victory of 13-3. Probably the outstanding player for the home team was John Carver. Although John was number one first baseman on the squad last year, the coaches have found him to be a greater asset on the mound. After holding the opposition to one hit for six innings, Carver was relieved by Olaf Olsen, also a veteran of the 1936 team. At the plate the list was headed by Carver and Hoague who made three hits out of five times at bat.

On the following Saturday the Governors encountered stiff competition from the Harvard Junior Varsity Team. In this game Joe Hoague, who was recently elected captain of the nine, left, for the first time, his regular position as catcher to pitch against the opposing aggregation. Joe more than justified the coaches' confidence in him by retiring eight opponents and by allowing but five hits — an admirable record for an inexperienced pitcher. However, in spite of a three-base hit by Ed Donnelly, last year's captain, and in spite of almost errorless infielding, the team was unable to alter the 2-0 lead which Harvard held throughout the latter part of the game.

Next on the schedule was the Belmont Hill School, which the Governors decisively beat out by a score of 14-3. The Belmont Hill pitchers proved an easy mark for the Governor sluggers, and Ed Donnelly again earned the hitting honors by smashing out a two bagger and a home run. The Governor Dummer battery, made up of Olsen in the box and Hoague behind the plate, effected thirteen strike-outs.

This spring Mr. Edward Eames has resumed his position as head coach, assisted by Mr. Chandler Hill and by Mr. Howard Navins. Mr. Navins, the first graduate of the school to return for faculty duties, captained the Governor Dummer Team of 1931. In the opinion of this coaching staff, the weak points of the team are pitching and hitting, but it is fully expected that with more batting practice and stronger pitching the team will successfully end the last half of the season.

The Track Season

Mr. Sager
Coach

The spring track squad which reported to Mr. Sager, Mr. Lacey, and Mr. Allen, appeared aggressive in size and quality, and quite promising with such veterans as, Dick Curtis, Chan Fuller, Clark Neily, Len Ellis, Ed Brush, and Shel Harris. Bearing out these early prospects the Governors won their first meet of the season by amassing a total of 40 points to 20 for Danvers High School and seven points for Newburyport High School. In a stirring 100-yard dash Chan Fuller took first, with Jack Foster a close second. Fuller then repeated this victory in the 440. Dick Curtis, turning to the weights, put the shot forty feet for first place. Clark Neily contributed a won in the 880, and added a second in the 220. In the mile run Jack Bell and Ed Brush took first and third respectively.

The Governors' second contest was in the form of a triangular meet with Amherst Freshmen and Deerfield Academy. The red and white trackmen were beaten by Amherst, but overcame Deerfield by a score of 20 to 16. Curtis, in good form, threw the javelin 163 feet nine inches, and Clark Neily turned in an excellent performance in the 880 with a time of 2:08. The wins of Curtis and Neily were the only first places that Amherst did not take. Coan of Amherst, besides taking a first and second in the high jump and discus respectively, put the shot the remarkable distance of 53 feet one and a half inches. Stan James, the Governors' most versatile competitor, took second place in the high jump and broad jump, and third in the pole-vault. Chan Fuller and Jack Bell rounded out the day by taking second and third in their respective events, the 440 and mile run.

The New Hampshire Interscholastics put the Governors in stiff competition. The team emerged from this competition very creditably. Captain Curtis continued his brilliant record in the javelin, winning the event with a throw of 156 feet. Neily, running against the national interscholastic indoor half-mile champion, Keating of St. John's Prep, placed second in a hard fought race. Ed Brush, although unable to place, ran very well in the mile.

The Lacrosse Season

Mr. Murphy
Coach

The coming of spring this year brought a new sport, lacrosse, to Governor Dummer. Lacrosse, as a sport in general, was played a great deal up until about ten years ago when, for some strange reason, its popularity faded. Apparently it is becoming very popular once again, and several of the leading New England preparatory schools have recently taken it up. Governor Dummer, recognizing this fact, has added the sport to its spring schedule. Mr. Murphy, head coach of this sport, wished for several years that he might organize a lacrosse squad here at school, but, because of several handicaps, he has been unable to do so until this year. Great enthusiasm was shown from the beginning and twenty-four boys turned out for the sport as the first of the season. There were only three or four members of the squad who had ever played the game before, and even then none of these had ever played organized lacrosse. In spite of this the coaches felt that great progress was made by the entire squad from the very start.

Russell Simons, who captained the team, was one of the most outstanding players throughout the season. He was extremely fast, and always seemed to have excellent control over his stick. Gordon Ellis, too, was a great aid to the team since he never became tired, and since he always played a very fast and accurate game. Putnam Flint, who played goal, made many excellent saves considering his inexperience, and he deserves credit for his superior defense.

The team was at a disadvantage when it came up against other teams on strange fields, because the field space at home was limited to about half of the official field length. In spite of the handicaps there was never a sign of poor spirit shown by any member of the squad. The boys were always eager to pick up any information about the sport from either of the coaches.

Of the twenty-four candidates who were out for lacrosse this year there will be fifteen returning next year, and, because of this number, Mr. Murphy feels certain that he will have exceptionally fine material with which to work next season.

The Tennis Season

Gordon Vaughn
Captain

The tennis team, under the guidance of Captain Gordon Vaughan, this year proved to be more successful than last year, and showed more strength.

The returning players of the team were Gordon Vaughan, who has now been captain for two successive seasons and who has been playing number one position, Bud Hasse, and Charlie Fellows and Dave Hunter, both of whom showed improvement.

Much of the real strength of the team was found, however, in the new members, including Ben Busch who took his brother's place of last year at number two position, Gordon Tooley, a reliable and steady player at number three, and Charlie Hewitt who had previously had a great deal of experience and showed good headwork and determination at number five position.

Since the courts were not ready to be played on till late in the season, and even then were in poor condition, the team suffered its first defeat when it played the Browne and Nichols School at Cambridge. Captain Vaughan lost his singles match 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. This match proved to be the highlight of the afternoon because the competition was so close. Hewitt and Tooley each lost their singles matches, and Vaughan and Tooley, playing in the number one doubles, lost also, as did Hasse and Hewitt playing in the number two doubles. The Browne and Nichols courts were in poor condition so that the quality of play on both sides was impaired.

The team then met Thayer Academy on the home courts and tied the squad of their powerful opponents 3-3. Ben Busch showed fine form and placement when he took the first singles match 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. Vaughan and Tooley won a hard fought doubles, and Hewitt and Busch completed the winning streak by taking the second doubles 6-4, 6-3. Bud Hasse lost two exciting sets; Gordon Vaughan lost his singles match after many heartbreaking rallies, and Charlie Hewitt suffered the same fate.

The improvement of the second match over the first ought to insure a very successful season, and all the credit goes to Mr. Jones, the tennis coach, not only for the success of the team as a whole, but also for the fine sportsmanlike attitude in the playing of the individual members.

The Golf Season

Peter Carpenter
Captain

Each year the number of boys wishing to play golf increases, and this shows well how popular golf is becoming in the student body. This season the squad has been limited to twenty-five members.

Through the loss of Joe Williamson, Tom Logan, James Walsh, and Cordis Sargent at graduation last year, the 1937 golf team has been handicapped by lack of good material. The only players who are returning from last year's team are Russ Potter, and Peter Carpenter, who has been chosen captain of this year's team. At present, positions one and two are held by Peter Carpenter and Ben Joy; three and four by Loring Hubbell and Russ Potter, and five and six by Fred Brehm and Wendell Sargent.

On April 24, the team played its first match, with Phillips Andover Academy at Andover. The opponents were exceptionally strong this year — they beat the Governors by the score of 9-0. The second match was a complete reverse, the Governors winning from Malden High School by 9-0. In this game, each player on the winning team beat his opponent by four up, or better, at the end of eighteen holes. The game with Amherst Freshmen was cancelled because of poor weather on May 8.

The games which are yet to be played are with Amherst Freshmen, Thayer Academy, Phillips Exeter Academy, Ould Newbury Golf Club, and Malden High School. For the most part, these games are all with difficult opponents.

Captain Peter Carpenter has exhibited some wonderful golf this spring. He is a steady consistent player, and can almost always be counted on to uphold his part on the team. Other members of the team are not quite as consistent in their scores, but as time goes on they are sure to improve. Those players who are being lost by graduation this year are Peter Carpenter, and Russell Potter. Those remaining with the team for another year are Loring Hubbell, Fred Brehm, and Wendell Sargent.

The Archon

This year the Archon was under the direction of co-editors, Richard Cary and Putnam Flint. Henry Cleaveland was managing editor, Donald Gibbs sports editor, Charles Fellows alumni editor, and Verges Van Wickle exchange editor.

The Archon is a magazine of twenty pages put out twice a term, six times a year by the students. It informs the students, alumni, and friends of the school of the various activities of note. These activities include alumni news, athletics, and many other subjects of interest.

The cover of the Archon was changed for the last two issues this year. Formerly there was a small picture of The Little Red School House with plain titles. Now there is a new larger picture of the building from a different view. There are colored Ben-Day titles with black lettering.

A series of drawings of picturesque subjects concerning the school was presented by members of the art classes. The following boys contributed: Stanley James, John Field, Edgar Sergeant, and Mr. Morey Eames. Several photographs of the teams in action were reproduced. This year the Archon has started a policy of dedicating an issue to the alumni of the preceding year. This action was prompted by the great growth of interest the alumni are taking in the school. As usual the "More Briefly" column was a great favorite. Henry Cleaveland wrote several editorials on school life.

The managerial board has done the best job in years. John Bixby was business manager, Emerson Kirby advertising manager, and Robert Fallon circulation manager. This department worked very hard and never let the editors worry about expenses or any other problems.

The Archon had its first formal dinner this year. This dinner was for both boards. The guest of honor was Mr. Maxwell A. Kilvert '85, the founder and first editor of the Archon. Mr. Kilvert gave several amusing anecdotes about the Archon in its infancy. Acting as Toastmaster, Co-editor Putnam Flint also introduced Mr. Thomas Mercer of the faculty. Mr. Mercer spoke briefly on how the Archon helps the school.

The editors wish to thank Mr. Theodore Barry for his guidance and enthusiasm, which has helped us make the magazine a great success.

The Glee Club

It is obvious to those who have been acquainted with the Governor Dummer Academy Glee Club that this year's club shows a high improvement over those of previous years. In the fall vocal tests were given to ninety eager students; and from these, fifty-four of the most promising voices were selected to represent the school in concerts throughout central New England. Through the constant endeavor of the director, Mr. Arthur W. Sager, the club has, to a large extent, mastered three of the fundamentals which mark the distinction between mediocre and superior group singing. The first and most important of these is absolute attention to the conductor and careful obedience to his leading. The second, shading, comes as a result of the first, adding subtlety and meaning to the selection. The third, perhaps the most difficult to achieve, is tone production; the scarcity of mature voices almost invariably presents a major problem to preparatory school glee clubs, but by consistent drilling, Mr. Sager has helped many of the club members to increase their vocal range and to attain a more resonant quality in their singing.

The Glee Club began the season by entertaining an audience of five hundred persons in the auditorium of the newly erected city hall at Dover, New Hampshire. The program was opened with two sacred selections, Bach's stirring composition "My Chosen King" and Arcadelt's version of "Ave Maria." A madrigal by Thomas Morley, a prominent sixteenth century composer, was offered next; its place in the program and the effective rendition of it by the club added a great deal of brilliance to the evening's performance. Next on the program were three piano selections, two compositions of Debussy, "Minstrels" and "Arabesque," followed by Brahms' "Ballade in G Minor," all played by Mrs. Benjamin J. Stone. Now Putnam Flint, accompanied by the club, took the stand to sing the humorous "Henceforth Strephon" from the comic opera Iolanthe by Gilbert and Sullivan. Putnam Flint has had considerable experience with the glee club and possesses a rare gift for bringing out the humor in this type of piece. Two other outstanding numbers were Clokey's clever arrangement "The Musical Trust" and the famous old spiritual "Go Down Moses." In the latter the solo was taken by Joseph Hoague, who has an unusually fine bass voice. Hoague was recently elected president of the Governor Dummer Glee Club by a large majority. Mr. Iglehart of the Governor Dummer Faculty received hearty applause for his tenor solos, "Plaisir d'Amour" by Martini and "Where'er You Walk" from Handel's opera Semele.

On the evening of March 18, the Glee Club broadcast a half-hour program over station WAAB in Boston. At this time the selections were sung in almost the same order as before, starting with the sacred type and moving into the secular, thus ending with "The Entrance and March of Peers" from Iolanthe. The Glee Club has had two joint concerts, was on the program of the annual concert of the Haverhill Musical Clubs, and sang to an appreciative audience in the Masonic Hall at Newburyport.

   - B. Stand in the first fifth of his class.

6. The mere fulfillment of the qualifications listed under By-Law 5 shall not automatically determine a student's eligibility for election. In addition, a three-fourths vote of the faculty members of the chapter shall be necessary for election.

7. In electing new members the faculty members of the chapter shall be urged to consider the following factors in determining qualifications for membership:
   - A. The nature of the courses.
   - B. The number of courses repeated.
   - C. The effort expended by the student.
   - D. The record of the student at Governor Dummer or at other schools prior to his senior year.
   - E. The record of the student in the College Board Examinations.
   - F. Marked deficiency in particular subjects.

The Dances

The annual fall dance was held on Saturday, December 12. A record attendance of thirty-six couples and many stags marked this first dance in the new dining hall. The Dance Committee was composed of Clark Neily, Chairman, Windsor Frost, Theodore Lacey, Arthur Ross, Richard Schanzle, Peter Van Voorhis, Huntington Worth, and Russell Potter. The music was provided by Ruby Newman and his orchestra.

The MILESTONE Dance, which is held every year for the benefit of the MILESTONE, took place on May 22. Ken Reeves and his orchestra supplied the music. Forthy-three couples and several stags attended the dance. The dining hall was cleverly ornamented with apple blossoms, and other decorations. The Dance Committee, composed of John Barrows, Chairman, Charles Callanan, John Connelly, Edward Donnelly, Putnam Flint, Charles Hewitt, Arthur Ross, and Richard Schanzle, did a splendid piece of work, and made the dance a great success.

The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Eames, and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Jacob.

The Science Show

The third annual Science Show was presented to a large and interested audience on March 5, in the gymnasium. Richard Curtis, who was director of experiments, introduced each science student taking part in the show, and assisted in explaining each one's demonstration. The experiments took place on a raised platform with a long table on it. The table and the platform were decorated in the customary style with symbols of science and the names of famous scientific men.

Charles Fellows opened the Show with several experiments involving liquid air. Benjamin Joy then explained the principles of the steam engine, and he followed this explanation by a history of the development of the use of steam.

Philip and Charles Shackelford were each in outstanding experiments. Philip used his good marksmanship to demonstrate the fact that water cannot be compressed. A can full of water, tightly covered, was punctured by a rifle bullet, which burst the can, sending a geyser skyward. Charles played his electric guitar, with oscillograph attached, to show that sound waves can be seen by the eye, in an experiment which involved cathode rays. Donald Kirkpatrick joined Philip and Charles to play a few Hawaiian songs to prove how entertaining a physics experiment can be. After this romantic interlude of south sea melodies, Charles drew two pictures on a chemically treated cloth. One of the pictures was greatly appreciated — it proved to be a caricature of Mr. Sager.

Leonard Poor was given the most spectacular experiments to perform. The work of several weeks in the physics laboratory resulted in a large tesla coil which was used in the performance. By means of transformers 110 volts we returned into 500,000 and the frequency was increased from 60 cycles per second to 2,000,000 by a spark discharge and condenser. Most of the apparatus used by Poor was beneath the table. When the electricity had been shot up through an aperture in the table, it would pass over the body of the demonstrator. Leonard, with the aid of the tesla secondary coil, produced sparks, often eighteen inches long. Glass, which is generally accepted as being a good insulator, was readily punctured by the sparks. The heat from these sparks ignited wood and paper quickly. To terminate this demonstration, Poor displayed several beautifully colored tubes, which received their color from sparks coming in contact with rare gases within the tubes. Each gas made a different color.

Other boys who gave experiments were Leonard Ellis, John Pettibone, and Henry Cleaveland.

Exhibitions and Sketching

During the school year of 1936-37, the faculty and students of the Academy enjoyed many exhibits of paintings, photographs, and sketches. The new building proved to be an ideal place to show the works of some of the best artists in the East.

During the Thanksgiving season several excellent marine paintings by Charles H. Woodbury were shown. Later in the fall Mr. John Benson of Kittery, Maine, gave a good exhibition of his boat paintings.

In January there was a showing of water color sketches of colonial subjects. Mr. Walter H. Kilham was the artist. Mr. Kilham is the architect of the new building, and it seemed only fitting that his works should hang in the building which he designed. At one of the school evening meetings Mr. Kilham spoke to the students, explaining his hobby of painting. During February the walls of the dining room were again brightened by stirring sea pictures. The artist, who excels in oils of surf and off shore scenes, was Mr. Galen J. Perrett of Rockport, son of an English sea captain.

The Noyes Library was the scene of many fine exhibits sponsored by the Camera Club and the sketching classes. The Camera Club, under its president, Richard Bartlett, and under the advisorship of Mr. Morey Eames, had a very successful year. Trips were taken to Gloucester, the Benson Animal Farm, Mr. and Mrs. Perrett's, and to the Myopia Hunt in Byfield. Many fine photographs were obtained and some successful contests were held.

Early in the school year there was an excellent exhibition of professional photographs of the academy. Mr. Morton Bartlett was the exhibitor. There was then a show by the Camera Club, which featured candid shots. Among the boys exhibiting in this show were: Fred Lovejoy, Brooks Merritt, Richard Phippen, and Ben Joy. In April the faculty and entire student body contributed to an exhibition of pictures and sketches of the Waterville Valley trip. The final showing of the year was a general exhibit of the work of the Camera Club and of the sketching classes.

The Camera Club prize was awarded to Fred Lovejoy in the contest for the best picture of a faculty child. The winning snapshot was of Ashley Eames, young son of the headmaster. The Archon held a series of contests for the sketching classes, rewarding the winners by publishing their works. Those who were winners were: Stanley James, John Field, Philip Simpson, and Edgar Sergeant. Stanley James and Putnam Flint won prizes for their entries in a clay modeling contest sponsored by the Biology department.

A great deal of credit is due to Mr. Morey Eames, instructor of sketching, and advisor of the Camera Club, for acquiring the oil painting exhibits, arranging school showings, and for stimulating an interest in art in the student body.

Commencement of 1936

It is necessary every year to give an account of the graduation exercises which took place the preceding year, because the MILESTONE is printed and distributed in advance of the exercises of the current year.

The Baccalaureate Service was held at the Adelynrood Chapel on Sunday, May 31. President John Albert Cousens, LL.D. of Tufts College delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon and said that "Education must go on after schooldays." Assisting in this service was the Reverend Glenn Tilley Morse, a member of the board of trustees. Later in the afternoon an exhibition of sketching and painting was on display in the library.

According to custom the Senior Sing was held on June fourth, the day before graduation, and was a very impressive ceremony. Rollin M. Batten, the editor-in-chief of the MILESTONE, presented the first copy of this yearbook to Mrs. Carrie G. K. Ambrose who is one of the school's oldest and most loyal graduates, and to whom the MILESTONE of 1936 was dedicated. The seniors then marched down the hill and around the old Boston Turnpike milestone singing the senior song.

The graduation exercises were held on Friday, June fifth. President Frederick C. Ferry, Ph.D. of Hamilton College, delivered the address and the diplomas were presented by Mr. James Duncan Phillips, who is the president of the Governor Dummer board of trustees. Mr. Eames awarded the annual prizes, including special and athletic prizes, to the boys who were best qualified in the different school activities. Following the graduation, the glee club gave its final concert of the year and the Morse flag was presented. In the afternoon, following a buffet luncheon, the baseball team played a very creditable game with Deerfield Academy.

The alumni dinner was held in the evening and was the last event of the day. The principal speakers were, Mr. Alfred G. Rolfe of the Hill School, President Frederick C. Ferry of Hamilton College, and Mr. Clarence Francis, President of the General Foods Corporation of New York.

Special Prizes

To Adrian Homer Hasse of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, who is the leader among the younger boys in scholarship, in athletics, and in qualities of personality and character.

To David Stanfield Hunter of Proctor, Vermont, Olaf Knute Olsen of Rowley, and Arthur Merriam Rolfe of Swampscott, three underclassmen who are selected for special prizes because of steady, persistent effort in their studies and because of personal qualities of character.

To Joseph Daniell Hoague of Weston, an outstanding athlete and a boy who would be worth while in any group and under any circumstances.

To David Burke of Newburyport, who, entering the junior school years ago, now enjoys the distinction of having attended the school longer than any of the masters; a boy who is at once the most gifted English student and the worst speller in his class; and finally a boy who deserves real credit for his improved industry during the last two years of his school career.

To George Wallace Bovenizer, Jr. of Irvington, New York, Dudley Boggs Follansbee of Newburyport, and Rollin Morgan Batten of Caldwell, New Jersey, three seniors whom we honor alike for their high scholarship and for their keen loyalty to the school.

To Marvin Olcott Fox of Binghamton, New York. As Mr. Kirk says, "Only those of us who have lived with Foxie for four years can appreciate how much he deserves a prize."

To Paul Herrick Comins of Winchester, a steady, reliable captain in athletics and in school life.

To Gillett Griswold of Butte, Montana, a western boy of the finest type; Gillett is the genuine article; a boy for whom we have come to have real affection and from whom we have learned much.

To Richard Hawes Francis of Bronxville, New York, for his unselfishness, his capacity for hard work, and for his improvement.

Acknowledgments

Every year there are friends of The Milestone who, although not actively engaged in work on the staff, give their willing help to many of the details of publication. This year we have especially to thank

Mrs. Jane M. Gale for her kind assistance

Mr. and Mrs. Morey Eames for their suggestions concerning photographs

Mr. Robert H. Iglehart for his contributions

Mr. Thomas McC. Mercer for his kind advice

Mr. Joseph Snyder whose aid each year in securing advertisements has become increasingly valuable

Mr. Harold A. Johnson of the Andover Press for his aid in an advisory capacity and for his cooperation

John Barrows and the Milestone Dance Committee, and the boys whose attendance at the dance greatly aided The Milestone exchequer

And the advertisers whose part in the publication is of such an integral nature.

Who was nothing short of a hummer,
Had pangs of regret
And said "How will I get
Good Humors from 'Larry' this summer?"

Good Yearbooks Don't "Just Happen"

THEY may vary tremendously in size, design, and cost, but all successful yearbooks have one thing in common . . . they represent hours of careful planning and painstaking workmanship.

This volume is no exception. The staff has worked long and diligently in order to make it an interesting record of the class and school.

It has been our privilege to assist in the publication of the book, working in close association with the members of the board. We wish to take this opportunity to thank them for their co-operation and to congratulate them on the results of their labors.
